DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is in response to the RCE/amendment filed 09/01/06. Claims 1-3, 5-7, 10-11, 15-16, 26-29, and 31-35 have been amended; claims 17-25 have been cancelled.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments, see page 12, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, the amendment has necessitated new grounds of rejection that are not based on prior art.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1-16 and 26-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Claim 1 recites the limitation "thresholding the resulting decrypted, reconstructed information to recover data lost due to sampling the encrypted data". The specification discloses that redundant data, which is original digital input data prior to encryption, was needed in thresholding of the reconstructed data to recover data lost due to sampling the encrypted data (page 18, lines 15-20). In light of the specification, the amended feature raises two issues. First, the specification does not disclose how the receiving entity has access to the original, unencrypted input data in order to perform the thresholding (When was the original, unencrypted input data transmitted to the receiving entity? Was it transmitted in plaintext or in encrypted format?) Thus, the disclosure fails to enable one skilled in the art to make and use the claimed invention. Claims 26, 29 and 31 are rejected on the same basis as claim 1. Claims that are not specifically addressed are rejected by virtue of their dependency.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 1-16 and 26-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. Regarding claim 1, the omitted element is: the redundant data, which is original digital input data prior to encryption, was needed in thresholding of the reconstructed data to recover data lost due to sampling the encrypted data (page 18, lines 15-20). Claims 26, 29 and 31 are rejected on the same basis as claim 1. Claims that are not specifically addressed are rejected by virtue of their dependency.

7. Claims 1-16 and 26-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential steps, such omission amounting to a gap between the steps. See MPEP § 2172.01. Regarding claim 1, the omitted steps are: transmitting and receiving redundant data, which is original digital input data prior to encryption. Without these step, the receiving entity would not have the original digital input data for thresholding of the reconstructed data to recover data lost due to sampling the encrypted data (page 18, lines 15-20). Claims 26, 29 and 31 are rejected on the same basis as claim 1. Claims that are not specifically addressed are rejected by virtue of their dependency.

8. Claims 1-16 and 26-35 are not rejected over the prior art of record.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
